Speaker 1 (00:00)
So now I'm here with the fifth participant. Hello, Sam

Speaker 2 (00:11)
Ok, Son, currently on the Air India website, trying to book a ticket. And what I'm noticing first of is that there are a lot of information all around the stuff related to credit stuff related to advertisement deals and all that when I do go to book a ticket. Let's say I want to go to Delhi from Pune.

Speaker 2 (00:33)
I'm getting an option for a lot of dates, which is fine but it's not very specific to what I want.

Speaker 2 (00:51)
It's taken a long time for me to finally select what I want to do. Okay. And now I'm friendly searching.

Speaker 2 (01:06)
So So now that I'm finally moved ahead, there's still showing me information of the above dates dates that I don't even want to go on. And I'm getting options for economy, premier, economy and business. So I'm gonna select economy, and I'm gonna go for the first flight.

Speaker 2 (01:30)
I see. Just for referencing, and again, there's even more information. When it comes to basic value class segments, step to do with a lot of points, a lot of information.

Speaker 2 (01:41)

It's basically taking a very long time from me to do this. One thing

Speaker 1 (01:51)
They give you a house. Alerting is necessary.

Speaker 2 (01:55)
Okay, so what they've basically done right now is they've given me an option to upgrade to classic, it's, there are 4 categories right now basic value, classic and flex. I chose value and they've still giving me the option to classic. For no reason, it's not.

Speaker 2 (02:11)
It's definitely not necessary. Nalada, I'm friendly. I think I'm finally at the checkout.

Speaker 2 (02:25)
Okay, I'm not getting looking for a return ticket, and then I'll go for the same ticket that I did initially. Who's still telling you that a greater classic? And now I'm thinking, I'm finally a checkout, okay, wait that not, I have to give passenger details.

Speaker 2 (03:07)
I've given information my name and birthday now for passing birthday.

Speaker 1 (03:24)
Next, so we don't stop here. So what did it talk about this, go upside

Speaker 2 (03:30)
So what I thought so far is that it's taking me a very long time to do a simple thing, and getting comboted with a lot, it's taking me a long time to do a simple thing. And getting bombarded with information that I'm not asking for a lot of stuff related to credit and upgrading, when it should not be that complicated.

Speaker 1 (03:50)
Now what will move to my my protest that I built? And now you have to do the same tickets. Hey, okay, it's start

Speaker 2 (04:00)
Let's start. Okay so now going on to your website. I want to book a round-trip from say New York to London and I want to depart on a certain date but I'm already noticing that the calendar is not as big for taking up as much space as it was on the other website.

Speaker 2 (04:19)
Hey, the UI is not overwhelming me. I searched a flights. Immediately got 5 lights, which I can filter through quite easily.

Speaker 2 (04:32)
I'll choose the firm randomly. So immediately, I just got on passenger details. It took me 2 minutes to do that.

Speaker 2 (05:01)
Okay, Put an embarrassing And the booking was confirmed, immed.

Speaker 1 (05:10)
Yeah, so whatever thoughts on this one?

Speaker 2 (05:13)
So I think that this is definitely less time consuming. It didn't give me a lot of like resistance to, you know, book my ticket at all. And it got them pretty fast.

Speaker 2 (05:25)

I just got what I wanted and I got out of it quickly. I think it's a really good website if you're someone who like delays booking a ticket because of how much, how overwhelming it can be when you're booking online.

Speaker 1 (05:38)
Thank you for doing this exam.

Speaker 2 (05:40)
Thank you, friendly.
